NORTH SIDE

WINS GREAT NEWPORT CLASSIC

Thirty-two Errors in 7 Innings Shows Business Men Need Practice

An examination of the box score of the opening game of the Sunset Baseball League, which was played at Gaines' Trotting Park in Newport on Thursday, will show 32 markers in the error column and this alone will prove to the gentle reader the weirdness of the battle between these old time students of the national pastime. But the enthusiastic fans who watched the seven inning fiasco, which was won by the North Side by a score of 18 to 12 must admit that it was an interesting game from the spectator's viewpoint and one which gave them as many laughs as are contained in a five-reel Mack Sennett comedy. There were no brilliant plays in fact there were few real good ones, but in spite of the noticeable absence of clever baseball, it was a thoroughly enjoyable game and well worth the sum that the average fan dropped into the hat that was passed around by our estimable deputy sheriff, Ora A. Swett.

The opposing managers, Charles McCauley and O. S. Searles, made but one mistake in the initial game, and that was to hold it at the big grounds instead of at Memorial Park near the Boston and Maine station. It is true that Gaines' Park is a much nicer place to play baseball, but the convenience of the fan must be taken into consideration. There are a great many persons who would like to witness the Sunset series, but there are many who cannot or will not make the trip to the regular baseball diamond. The management is practically certain to have a capacity audience if the game is played at the Park on the lower end.

QUEER AUTO

ACCIDENT AT BARTON

Silas Sargent Tries to Enter Store Without Leaving Car

A very peculiar accident took place in the main square of Barton village at 8:30 Friday morning, when Silas Sargent, an Orleans merchant, his wife and daughter, his son-in-law, Buell Smith, and his young grandson, tried to enter the B. F. and H. L. Jackman store in his five passenger, 1920 model, Buick car.

Due to a spring bumper on the front, more damage was done to the building than to the automobile. Mr. Sargent was driving the car, but while he owned a car for some time, his son-in-law has always previously operated it. Sargent was receiving a lesson, and turning the corner in front of the Tower clothing store, he ran into the high curbing around the park, and then whirled the car across the street between two other autos standing on the other side and ran up some stairs into a corner-most supporting the balcony of the store building. This post was knocked from its base, and the balcony settled quite a distance. All that the car suffered was a bent support between the headlights, a broken grease cup, and a bent rim from the collision with the curbing. A crowd soon collected and pushed the car back into the road, the passengers transacted the business for which they came, and the car returned to Orleans with few signs of its narrow escape. Within an hour, men were at work replacing the supporting post and mending the balcony.

HARDING NOT TO URGE WOMAN SUFFRAGE

HARTFORD, Ct., July 16—Senator Harding, Republican candidate for President, does not intend to act or advise Gov. Holcomb to call a special session of the Connecticut legislature to ratify the Federal suffrage amendment. A query on these points were sent to Mr. Harding by the Hartford Times brought the following reply: "I answer no."

WHEAT HAS BIG BREAK IN PRICE

CHICAGO, July 16—Wheat underwent a sensational break in price today. The market opened all the way from unchanged figures to 9 1/2-20 lower and soon was down 10 1/2 bushel in some cases for December, the principal speculative delivery. The big tumble in values was attributed more to the lack of buying orders than to any great pressure to sell.

SAYS GLARING HEADLIGHTS MUST GO

Secretary of State Black Discusses Auto Laws

"Glaring headlights will have to go," declared Secretary of State Harry A. Black, who attended the Coolidge reception at Plymouth yesterday. "There are a lot of people in Vermont who are insisting on using the glare headlights in spite of the law. There is going to be a heavy punishment for those who persist in so doing."

This answer was made in reply to a question in regard to the most drastic measure to be taken with law breaking automobilists.

Regarding the question of licenses Mr. Black said that many people were using fakes. "A number of people," he declared, "have registered only one of their cars. When they get through using that car they simply transfer the license to another. In cases like this the punishment is often more than twice as much as it would have cost them to take out a license in the first place."

Mr. Black said that there were more or less cases of people driving without licenses and also children, under age who were not authorized to drive. Mr. Black was next asked if there were many cases of accidents which were caused by drunken drivers.

"We have had some of these cases reported particularly near the Canadian border. There are also, I think, many cases of drunken motorists who are driving on open country roads and who are lucky enough not to get hurt."

The secretary of state was asked next about the case of Edward Daley of Burlington who was recently pardoned by Governor Clement. The only statement that he authorized was to the effect that, "The mere fact that Daley was pardoned by the governor does not mean that he is entitled to an automobile license."

In reply to a question regarding Daley's obtaining license in another state, Mr. Black replied that it would be impossible for him to do so unless Daley misrepresented the facts of the case or unless the authorities of the other state were ignorant of his having been convicted for manslaughter. He could not drive in this state if were so licensed.

GOV. COOLIDGE'S BIG DAY AT PLYMOUTH HOME

Over 2000 Vermonters Greet the Candidate for Vice President

Bright skies and fair winds contributed their part to make Thursday, July 15, a perfect day and the 2,500 men and women who attended the outdoor reception to Gov. Calvin Coolidge at his father's home at Plymouth Corner will long remember the notable gathering. Not since the republicans foregathered in the sugar bush of Gov. Charles J. Bell in Walden in the summer of 1904 has there been such a mid-summer outing and about all the politicians were there, many bringing their wives and daughters. If you didn't recall a familiar face it was a safe guess to address your friend as Governor or Colonel and you would hit it right one or the other titles. Gov. Clement was there with a smile of satisfaction that would indicate that he didn't care what folks thought of him as long as he was "It".

Lieut. Gov. Stone with his cordial handgrip and cheery smile was welcome anywhere in the crowd, and to a question as to when he had visited the little town of Plymouth last, said that he spent the night at that time in he Coolidge home.

The State House must have looked deserted on Thursday afternoon for the officials attending the function included Adj. Gen. Johnson, Sec. of State Harry A. Black, Auditor of Accounts Benjamin Gates, Commissioner of Industries Buttrick, J. G. Brown, insurance commissioner, and

Expresses Confidence That Platform Will Satisfy Farmer-Labor Element

(By the Associated Press)

MARION, Ohio, July 16—Senator Harding kept hard at work today on his speech accepting the Republican nomination for president although the address is not to be delivered until next Thursday at the formal notification ceremonies here. He received few callers and devoted virtually all his time to the manuscript in the hope of completing it by tomorrow night.

As an interpretation of the Chicago platform the acceptance speech is expected to be the real keynote of the Republican campaign. The candidate therefore is taking great care that it touches comprehensively all the important issues and lays a broad basis for the party's fight for support.

In his declaration regarding the new Farmer-Labor party the senator's friends see an indication that the Republican attitude toward the farmers and laborers might come in for particular attention in the notification speech. The candidate has revealed none of his intentions regarding the speech but he expressed confidence that the Republican platform would satisfy both the farmer and labor element.

Women Place Their Hope In Aid of Lieut. Gov. Stone

Just before Gov. Coolidge began to speak at his Plymouth home Thursday a lady grasped Lieut. Gov. Stone's hand and said:

"Are you going to let us vote this fall?"

"Do you want to vote, Mrs. X?" asked the genial official. "Well, I am not excited about it, but I think that the women ought to vote," she said.

"Other women have told me the same thing," said the lieutenant-governor and the band played and it was all over.
